THE STORM.

ALMOST A REPETITION OF THE GREAT FLOOD OF 1886.

Boom-The Downey Avenue, Aliso Street and First Street Bridges

Most decidedly the rain was not over Most decidedly the rain was not over. The too-previous prophets who assumed it to be were never worse off their reckoning. It did not even wind up with the smart shower of Sunday evening. Yesterday was rainy and threatening throughout. At 7:07 p.m. the rainfall for the twenty-four hours then ended was 1.88 inches—a handsome precipitation in itself. The steady downfall which had been at about 6 p.m. grew in which had been at about 6 p.m. grew in then ended was 1.88 inches—a handsome precipitation in itself. The steady downfall which had begun at about 6 p.m. grew in intensity, and by 7:15 had become one of the fiercest storms ever seen here. It was little short of a cloud-burst. The wind was much stronger than is usually known in this climate of gentle zephyrs, and its heavy gusts drove the blinding sheets of rain up the streets in a rattling fusilade which it was almost impossible to stand against, much less roove in the teeth of. The ground, soaked to its fullest receptivity by a week's gentle rains, rejected, his sudden inundation; and the downcolning floods sought surface passage. In the minutes every sloping gutter was a torent. Many street-crossings became immediately impassable save to people with ruber boots; and as the storm waters came down in a volume which mocked the capacity of sewers and culverts, lakes and seas formed in the streets wherever the lay of the land allowed. The streams which came down Bellevue avenue, Temple, First, Second, Third and Fourth street, from the hill, were freshes in themselves. The missing of water on the north and south streets became enormous. It was bad on Spring, stroclous on Main, worse on Los Angeles and simply awful on Alameda. By 8:30, this stormwater had made Alameda street a river. At the Capital Mills there was a current a foot deep half across the street. At the foot of Commercial street it was deeper by many Inches, and covered the street. Where First street crosses Alameda was worst, as usual. Here the water was 100 feet wide, and four feet deep at the deepest—running like a mill-race. A tremendous volume of water was flowing into Alameda street, in the vicinity of the plaza. All upper Main street was a deep lake, and Marchessault street and Bellevue avenue were howling torrents.

street and Believic avenue to the retorrents.

That was the state of things when the reporters of The Times made the first rounds, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. One pencil-pusher visited the Downey-avenue bridge at the latter hour and found things quiet there. The river was not yet out of its summer bed under the east end of the bridge. There was evidently nothing to be apprehended until Big Tejunga and other canons up the river should be heard from.

until Big Tejunga and other canons up the river should be heard from.

No STREET CARS.

To add to the unpleasantness of the general situation, the street cars practically stopped running between 6 and 7 p.m. There were three or four sporadic cars after 7, but they were merely accidents, trying to get home. Three of the last to run tried to come down Alameda street, but found it impossible on account of the water, and were with difficulty hauled back and taken around over the old Buena Vista-street route. One of the last east-bound transfer cars on the Buena Vista-street route broke a truck on the switch between Virgin and College streets, and still lies there a melancholy wreck. The very last car of all left the east end of the Downey-avenue bridge at 9 o'clock, and was an hour getting to First street. In many cases the tracks are covered with six inches of sand, and a car cannot be kept on the track. A good many people had to walk over to their homes in East Los Angeles, and in some places had to wade three feet of water.

THE RIVER BEGINS TO BOOM.

THE RIVER REGINS TO BOOM. At a little before 10 o'clock, Tejunga and the other mountain eave-spouts began to be heard from. A vast volume of water came rolling down the river, lifting it inch after inch, until it ran from bank to bank, 300 feet across, a brown, tossing, howling torrent, which looked too vividly like the disastrous spectacle of February 3, 1886. Ever since 8 o'clock, police officers had been at work in the district flooded last year, fairly commanding people to move to higher commanding people to move to high-ground. They were finally successful successful be only after the most strenuous exertions—ligetting a large portion of the threatene families moved.

DAMAGE BEGINS.

Jamilies moved.

DAMAGE REGINS.

Up to this time the damage had been confined to the flooding of cellars, basements and low buildings. The Thies' pressroom was threatened with a repetition of last year's disaster, but this was averted by strenuous work. About twenty-five feet of the sidewalk retaining-wall of the new Times Building succumbed. Many houses lying low on Sixth street were invaded by the water, and so were many in Sonoratown, where mud walls might be seen, built around the low doors, while the inmates were balling, knee-deep, inside their casas, with many a spiteful carajo! The row of stores in the Baldwin building, on Spring street, opposite the Courthouse, had a heavy stream across their floors, from front to rear. It came from New High street.

At 11 o'clock came the dismaying report that the Downey-avenue brigge had thrown up its tail and sailed down the river. The report was generally accepted as true; but a Times man went down to the bridge in a hack at midnight and found every timber there, though the river was close up to the stringers on the east side and near the top of the plank bulkhead erected by the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad since the flood of '86.

Things were not everywhere in such good.

A BRIDGE DOWN.

Things were not everywhere in such good shape, however. When the vast discharge of the northern canons reached the Alisoshape, however. When the vast discharge of the northern cafions reached the Alisor street bridge, it played havoe; Shortly after 10 o'clock the water cut under the supports of the horse-car bridge, which is on the north side of the main; and undermined the earth approaches to the main bridge. Officer Santiago Arguello, who showed such distribution of the street with a thinguished bravery in the last flood, and riding across the embankment and had been allowed and had to come around by the old covered bridge to get back to the city. About 100 or 150 feet of the embankment was swepleft on the bridge and had to come around by the old covered bridge to get back to the city. About 100 or 150 feet of the embankment was swepleft on the bridge and had to come around by the old covered bridge to get back to the city. About 100 or 150 feet of the embankment was swepleft on the bridge and had to come around by the old covered bridge to get back to the city. About 100 or 150 feet of the embankment was swepled away. At 11:15 the west end of the car bridge gave a shiver and went down with a crash into the flood. A squad of policemen who were standing upon it had a break-neck seramble for dear life, but all got off in the nick of time. It is believed though it was impossible to tell surely in the darkness—that part of the iron structure of the main bridge went down too, a pier being undermined. Having gained this advantage, the waters of the river—still rising and running like a mountain torsent—began to pour in over the lowlands.

and spread out over the area flooded syear ago, with considerable rapidity. The flooded district is the same as last year—the territory comprising First, Banning, Lazard Sainsevain, Turner, Aliso, Vignes, Alamedo

rirst-street bridge could no longer assume the pressure, and beran to cramble by the cubic yard into the flood. A number of policemen were watching, but when the ground began to melt away in front of them in that fashion, and the river was fast and seriously cutting through Turner street in their rear, they concluded that east of Turner street was good enought for them, and back they came. The river had fallen a foot at 19:30, but there was no indication that this encouraging state of things was to be permanent. Private advices from San Fernando at midnight stated that there was a fearful volume of water coming down the Big Tejunga, and that the long railroad bridge across the wash and the track for a mile and a half were covered by the flood. This, if true, would indicate a heavier visitation here between 3 and 6 this morning.

RESERVOIR NO. 4.

RESERVOIR NO. 4. Late in the evening there was a rumor generally current to the effect that Reservoir No. 4, north of Temple street, a mile outstrom Spring, had burst. This reservate that the country of voir No. 4, north of Temple street, a mile outsirom Spring, had burst. This reservoir did go out six years ago, and played the mischief along the narrow valley down which its waters are discharged. Its waste goes down through the lakelet of the Second street park, down east of the Coulter Woolen Mill, where the woolen mill ditch joins the waste, and down across Sixth, Seventh and Eighth streets, in the Arroyo de los Reyes. That region was far less thickly settled then. The breaking of the reservoir now would effect many hundred houses, and do many thousands of dollars of damage. Fortunately it did not break. Chief Skinner sent officers out at once to investigate, and they found the report a canard.

PROBABLE ISOLATION.

The city itself may be found as isolated today as Boyle Heights is. As indicated in today as Boyle Heights is. As indicated in the column of railroad news, several severe the column of railroad news, several severe washouts were known of early in the evening, and it is extremely probable that the later tremendous precipitation made serious gaps in every railroad line leading to this city. A message received at this office at 10:30 announced all the wires down at Mojave, and the Associated Press had hard work to get any news at all to its patrons here by way of the Atlantic and Pacific.

It is impossible at this writing to give any list of the sufferers by the flood. The list would be so incomplete as to be ridiculous. Of the many hundred families embraced in the district above outlined, almost all are more or less affected. At 1 o'clock this morning no houses had been swept away, though the indications were that some along Turner street and those nearest the First street bridge might very likely take a sail' before morning. Officer Arguello, who is pretty well posted on the whims and ways of this curious stream, was keen to bet a new hat that a much greater volume of water would reach the city by 6 this morning. He insists that the Telunga had not got down this far by midnight.

A list of the flood-sufferers who sought refuge at the police station will be found below. It is impossible at this writing to give any

The horse-car track and footpath, on the south side, remained at that hour, though badly sagged. It was still possible, though a little "shaky," to cross on foot. Carriages and horse cars will not be able to cross for a day or two. The water was then falling rapidly, and had already gone down several feet. At 4 a.m. the moon came out, smiling ruefully, on the scene. The rain had largely quit an hour before. It looked as though the worst was over.

There was an absolute rubber-boot famine in the city yesterday. Owing to the long continuance of the mud, there had been a tremendous demand for these useful articles; and those who rushed around when last night's storm set in, visited every shoe store in town in vain. # THE NAVAJOS.

Further Particulars as to the Present Trouble. A letter received by a member of The Times staff yesterday from S. E. Aldrich, a well-known and reliable Indian trader at Manuelito, N. M., with stores also Navajo reservation, gives the following particulars about the recent trouble there, which The Times published a day ahead of its contemporaries. The letter is dated February 12th: "E. E. Palmer, of Houck's Tank, Ariz.,

"E. E. Palmer, of Houck's Tank, Ariz., swore out a warrant at Navajo Springs, Ariz., against a Navajo Indian for horsestealing. George Lockhart, Deputy Sheriff, assisted by Palmer and one J. King, started to arrest the Indian. This was last Sunday, and all that is known is that the Indians and Americans had a fight. Lockhart's body was found at the door of the Indian hogan. Nothing has yet been heard of Palmer and King, but it is generally supposed that they were killed and their bodies are burled under the snow, as it has been snowing heavily since the trouble occurred. Two Indians were killed and one wounded. Maj. S. S. Patterson, the United States Indian Agent, is here to thoroughly investigate the matter.

"The trouble occurred thirty-five miles south of here, and at least fifty miles from the reservation line."

THE CROPS.

Grain Cannot Make More Than Half

"Well, how about the grain crop?" asked a TIMES representative yesterday, of J. J. Mellus, one of the heavy operators.

"Under the most favorable conditions. now, we cannot get half a crop," was the answer. "There's Rowland, had in 1800 acres of grain last year, and this year hasn't turned a furrow. The Laguna ranch had turned a furrow. The Laguna ranch has all 1,000 acres in grain last year, and thus far this year only 2500. They may get in 1500 more by March, but even that makes but 4000 acres. The San Fernando ranch is in much the same boat. The rain, however, is a grand thing for us. It will make hay reasonably cheap, make the stock fat, etc. All the other crops but grain should do well. San Diego's Assessment Tangle-Oceanside Progress-Points from Pomona-Monrovia Matters-Items in General from South California

Just at present there exists a ques-tion whether or not an assessment will be made in San Diego county this year. The reason of this "state of things" is found in the fact that the salary—$3000—allowed by law for the work is entirely inadequate. The salaries of the Deputy Assessors last year cost as much as that. It is conceded that the work cannot be done for less than $5000. No officer is going to bind himself to do a $5000 job for $3000. A bill is before the Legislature to remedy the difficulty. If it does not pass the assessment will go by default, unless a cheap boy can be used to do the work. he used to do the work.

The petition for laying gas pipes in the streets of Pomona has been granted by the Board of Supervisors on motion of Supervisor Martin. We understand the work will be commenced immediately. The sooner the better.

Fruit Pest Inspector Driffle assures us that a relentless war is being waged against the San José scale, which was only interrupted for a few days during the storm. The machine used is the the storm. The machine used is the Gregory spraying machine. It has a capacity of about one hundred gallons of fluid per day. No more cases of white scale have been discovered. The two trees affected by that scale were cut down, covered with coal oil and burned, and the ground in the immediate vicinity thoroughly sprayed. Mr. Driffle tells us that owners of infected orchards so far have followed his directions explicitly and footed the bills without a murmur, all of which justifies, the belief that the scale bug will soon be a thing of the past.

The office of the Oceanside Star is now probably one of the most complete of the weeklies of Southern California. We have gone to an expense of fully $2000 in putting in a large Cincinnaticylinder press, capable of running off a nine-column paper if necessary, new body and advertising type throughout, new stones and in fact everything to make up a first class office; and last, but not least, we have set in position this week a four-horse engine and boiler, which complete our newspaper office in every detail.

ome Important Matters from Exchanges.

The following railroad information from duly-credited exchanges presents some valuable information:

THE POMONA SPIUATION.

THE POMONA SITUATION.

[Pomona Times-Courier.]

The main depot on the Atlantic and Pacific line north of town has not been located as per diagram of our Secondstreet contemporary nor anywhere else yet. The matter remains as stated two weeks ago in the Times-Courier. The dispute being between property owners as to whether the depot shall be located within 2000 or 2800 feet west of San Antonio avenue. A compromise was effected on the basis of a 2400-foot limit, but Mr. Meserve failed to agree on that proposition. We are informed that the Atlantic and Pacific people wrote Mr. Meserve yesterday (Friday, February 11th) that unless he came to terms the depot would be located on Rhorer's land, east of him, and their line forced through his place. Depot No. 2 is definitely located on Alexander avenue. The Pomona Land and Water Company and H. A. Palmer, respectively, have sold to the corporation composed of Atlantic and Pacific officials 386 acres, embracing a portion of sections 9 and 10, adjoining San José Rancho line, and lots 1, 2 and 3, and east half of lot 7 in North Pomona tract.

Mr. Kulhmann, with a force of men,

Mr. Kulhmann, with a force of men Mr. Kulhmann, with a force of men, is now laying out the new townsite, clearing brush and surveying streets on these lands. There is a large plaza in the center. The railroad graders have reached this point, and are grading today at the townsite. They had reached Mills avenue yesterday. The reute runs on the dividing line between lots I and 2 and 8 and 9—leaving the main body of the townsite north or the railroad, and only twenty acres—the west one-half of lot 7—south of it.

No name has been fixed upon yet. Warrington, Corona, Pomona Heights and North Pomona have been considered.

Sunday's Chronicle says: "Brave efforts are being put forth by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company for the early completion of its new line from Riverside and Los Angeles to San Diego via Santa Ana, and although a little late in the field, the Southern Pacific Company is pushing the work of paralleling the proposed road just as bravely. From an official who is acquainted with the plans of the Atchison, it was learned yesterday that the proposed line from Riverside to Los Angeles via Santa Ana, which will parallel the Southern Pacific Company's Santa Ana branch for the greater part of its mileage, is to at once receive the attention of the construction force. The graders on the line from Riverside are now at work in the vicinity of Santa Ana, and it is probable that work north from Santa Ana to Los Angeles will soon be commenced with a rush and simultaneously with the extension of the Atchison's line south from Santa Ana to toward San Diego. The same authority, who has recently been viewing the progress of the work at short range, said:

"The object of the Atchison in having two lines to San Diego is not generally understood. Even by some railroad people the new line is looked upon as superfluous. Now, take a map of Southern California and its railroad system and the wisdom of the scheme can easily be made apparent. In the first place, as will be seen, there is a big saving in distance by the new line between Los Angeles and San Diego. In going by way of Colton you follow the two sides of a square, but by way of Santa Ana you cut across diagonally and save many miles. Then there is another thing to be considered which outsiders are not likely to take into account, and that is the saving of heavy grades. The steep ascents in the Temecula cañon will be avoided, and as the new road is to run through a comparagrades. The steep ascents in the Tem-ecula cañon will be avoided, and as the new road is to run through a compara-tively level country there will be quite a saving in time, leaving out the matter

Monrovia.

[Monrovia Planet.]

There are rumors of a saloon about to be built in Monrovia soon. Nip it in the bud.

A hack will meet all trains at the Duarte station and will convey passengers to Duarte, Azusa, Monrovia or elsewhere.

Rumors have been rife lately about a bank to be started in Monrovia. The enterprise cannot be started too soon. One of the Duarte school buildings, which was replaced by new, has been removed to Monrovia and is used as adwelling.

Although there has been five inches of rain here during the late storm, an hour after the rain ceased the streets were as dry as could be desired. The drainage is perfect.

transportation, and also to enable the more southern parts—Freano, Tulare and Kern counties, through which it passes—to be opened up. These counties are, it is said, particularly adapted to the production of citrus fruits, and a line running as proposed would bring this portion of the State into easy connection with San Francisco. The real reason, however is, it appears to forestall any other company, and is more directly aimed at shutting out the Atlantic and Pacific from running its lines along the valley. Although the line is said to be from Tracy to Pampa, railroad men generally express the opinion that it will not run for anything like that far, and will be merely built for a shorter distance to occupy the situation for the reasons stated. The capital stock of the San Pablo and Tulare Extension Railroad is $8,000,000, divided into $9,000 shares. Of the directors mentioned, Crocker, Hopkins and Huntington are the principal men; the other two, Messrs Brown and Green, with 25 shares each, are practically dummies. That an attempt will be made to obtain a subsidy from Congress for the new road goes without saying. To what extent such a subsidy is necessary may be judged from the fact that few roads could be easier to construct than that projected. It will be an unusually cheap one to build; there are no heavy grades on it worthy the name, and no heavy work will be encountered. The right of way through the farms along the route has been secured by a provision made by the railroad people when they sold the land to settlers, reserving the right to run railroads along the section lines.

OUR CHARTER.

OUR CHARTER.

Causing Trouble in the Legislative Sunday's Chronicle says, in its re-ort of the proceedings at Sacramento: More trouble than was expected is experienced in getting up a charter for Los Angeles and Oakland. Knox, of Los Angeles, introduced a charter which did not please the authorities of that city, and they are now preparing a substitute, the outlines of which are here. The substitute does not suit Oakland, and the differences are so great that there is no way of reconciling nere. The substitute does not suit Oakland, and the differences are so great that there is no way of reconciling them. Los Angeles rather favors decentralization of power, while Oakland insists upon strenghtening the Mayor and giving him almost unimited power. Had the Council of Los Angeles kept hands off and trusted to the tact and good intentions of their delegation, a charter satisfactory to both would now be up to third reading. They are not alone in this matter, and Oakland is numerically in the ascendancy here. Knox has taken advantage of the only chance left him, to secure a Constitutional amendment that will enable cities of that class to make charters to suit themselves. This plan the delegations from both cities can support, and it will probably pass. Knox's amendment reaches section 8 of Article XI. The only change contemplated is to strike will probably pass. Knox's amendment reaches section 8 of Article XI. The only change contemplated is to strike out the words "one hundred thousand" and insert "fifty thousand." He also adds a new paragraph providing that any city shall be authorized through the legislative body at any time to cause an enumeration of its population to be taken, and if on such enumeration it appears that such city has over 50,000 inhabitants, the city may then proceed to frame its own charter, as already provided for in the section. White, of Los Angeles, has introduced an amendment almost identical, in the Senate, fixing the population at 10,000. This amendment is antagonized by smaller municipalities, which are already incorporated, and fear disturbance from such permission.

MEDICAL INHALATION COMBINED WITH CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDIES.

Medical Inhalation is simply and solely a method of taking medicines by inhaling or breathing them into the lungs, instead of swallowing them into the stomach. MEDICAL ADVOCATES OF INHALATION

Physicians who were educated twenty years ago or more, and who have not kept up with the times in the advance in medical science, have very little idea of the great importance all leading medical writers now give to Medical inhalation in the treatment of pulmonary

The numerous cures effected by Inhalation in cases seemingly past all help, and the uniform success attending its use in diseases of the respiratory organs, renders it obligatory on every honest physician to at once apply himself to gain a practical knowledge of the Inhilation, or, if that is not possible, he is at least bound to decline to treat such cases. Among the most eminent physicians of the age who are fully awakened to the value of Medical Inhalation in these diseases are the following: The celebrated Dr. Burdon-Saun-derson; Dr. La Roche, of the Paris Academy of Medicine; Dr. Frederick Langhaus, of Berlin; Dr. Kiebs and Tommasi-Crudell; Sir Archibald Dickson, of Edinburgh, Scotland; Dr. Richer, Dr. Cameron, Dr. Gurdon Buck, Prof. Albert Lehert, the celebrated Dr. Hughlings Jackson, the venerable Dr. Robert Dickinson, Prof. Thierfelder, Spencer Wells, Dr. Hilton Flagge, Dr. G. P. Wood, Drs. Fritsch and Hitzig, Dr. Fothergill, Dr. Richard Thompson, Dr. R. S. Carpenter, Drs. Anstel. Ball, Fuller, Lancereaux, Krauss, Huguenie, Heller, Orth, Corrigan, Fenwick and many others. With soarcely a single exception every medical authority of eminence recognizes the wonderful potency of this new method, and the coming seneration of physicians here and there who have made "Diseases of Respiration" a life study that are fitted in any way to employ the wonderful resources of Medical Inhalation in the cure of these diseases.

THE CURABILITY OF CONSUMPTION.

For five years the celebrated Dr. I. H. Bennet was pathologist to the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh, and in his great work on "Consumption" he makes the following statement: "During this period I made upwards of 2000 post-mortem examinations of persons dying from various diseases, and I was constantly meeting with cases in which I found cavities in the lungs from consumption, which had evidently healed up or clostrized years before the death of the subject. Nature did not seem to have been successful in restoring the wasted lung-substance, but the cavities were dried up, the progress of the disease arrested, and the subject lived for years, with diminished lung power it is true, but otherwise in good health."

ACROSS THE CONTINENT

OE, THE NOVELIST, GIVES HIS IMPRESSIONS.

Admitted "Tenderfoot," He Writes Phinly and Interestingly of What He Sees-Tribute to the Balmy Air of Los Angeles.

Correspondence to the Inter Ocean.]
Los Angeles (Cal.), Jan. 28.—In complying with the request to write a few letters from this region, I shall not seek to give statistical and accurate information, such as might be embodied in a report. It will be long indeed before I can write in any sense as an authority. I am a "tenderfoot," as newcomers are often termed, of the most immature character. All is new and strange and much strangely beautiful. I have almost everything to learn about I have almost everything to learn about topography, scenery, trees, plants, birds, flowers, etc., while human life and its conditions, the most interesting subject of all, presents an inexhaustible field for study. It has occurred to me that many whose duty or inclination keeps them near their own hearths may find some pleasure in seeing through my eyes.

In a certain sense—not a satisfactery one, I admit—they can journey with me, accompany me in my rambles and longer tramps among the foothills and canons or take a drive to some distant ranch.

ALL I CAN PROMISE

is to give the impressions of a somewhat close observer. Familiar with the horticulture of the East, I may be able to understand the methods of culture and character of plants more readily than some others. But I make no promises whatever, either as to the number of these letters, their frequency, interest, or accuracy. I shall not consciously mislead, but merely suggest that I do not belong to the class of people who are always right.

The journey to this region in itself is an experience not to be forgotten. I had never been further west than Chicago, nor had I been in that remarkable city since I looked upon its smoking ruins in '71. In comparing its aspect then with its present appearance, one gets a tremendous impression of American energy and thrift. I spent two hours in almost steady walking, and yet had only half seen an immense manufactory erected by an old friend and neighbor. The lofty roof surmounting a mountain of brick, which throbbed with powerful machinery, formed a good vantage point from which to guess at the enormous business of a city recently a swamp, and less than a score of years ago in ashes.

THE LATE NOVEMBER DAY

THE LATE NOVEMBER DAY

was bitter cold and we saw evidences of severe frost in the frozen ponds and streams as our train rushed westward.
The boys were making the most of the smooth, black ice before the snow came and covered all. Alas for the boys of the Prairie State! They cannot ride down hill. I suppose they have sleds, but what can they do with them in this sea-like land, which looks as if the ocean had become solid in a moment of calm! The prairie, seen for the first time, made an impression much like that of the peaceful Pacific later on in our journey. Some of us sat up late that we might see the stars gleam in the "Father of Waters," for we were told that ice was already running. We were catching our last glimpse of winter. The following morning found us at Kansas City and in genial sunshine.
There was novelty in the very fact that we were beyond the Missouri River.

and a colored porter carried in our lunch baskets.

As we saw a mother and child comfortly placed in an elegant stateroom our thoughts would revert again to the mothers and children who had traveled in the same direction but a little time before under a canvas shelter, while husbands and fathers walked warily beside them, armed to the teeth. The journey to the Pacific has, indeed, been robbed of all its hardships and of everything that a few years ago would have journey to the Pacinc has, indeed, been robbed of all its hardships and of everything that a few years ago would have been regarded as discomfort. In fact, it has now become a question of the various degrees of luxury offered by the competing lines across the continent. The Santa Fé road can certainly be made a favorite among the several routes, especially with those whose destination is Southern California. As far as I can learn, it will become the shortest and most direct line from Chicago to Los Angeles, involving few if any changes. The invalid will be able to reach the land of vivifying sunshine in the briefest time and with the least discomfort. Although the ground was dry almost the entire distance across the continent, we were but slightly troubled with dust. The high elevations over which parts of the road pass may produce disagreeable symptoms in some instances, yet but few in our car suffered from this cause.

To me the pure, transparent air, when over 7000 feet above the sea, was exhilarating. There was one thing, however, of which all the passengers did complain—the inability to obtain a cup of tea or coffee on the train. The eating stations, when reached, were all that could be desired, but they are too far apart; and even when a train is fairly on time there is no certainty as to the hours of meals. Detentions, of course, are frequent, and lunch baskets an imperative necessity; but these, however well-stocked, are inadequate.

Most people, when rising, are accus-SUFFERED FROM THIS CAUSE.

with their food, and, with these accessories, a light breakfast suffices until well into the day. He was regarded as a poor officer in the war who did not see that his men had their coffee before requiring service of them. To delicate women and invalids a cup of tea, accompanied by a slight repast, when they feel the need of these, is worth a wilderness of eating-houses, for which they must leave the car in all kinds of weather; and all the corporations in the United States will not persuade them otherwise. The management of the Santa Fé route has merely to provide for this necessity in order to make it, one would think, the most popular transcontinental road.

It appears to me the State of Kansas can not fail to make a profound impression upon the traveler, so boundless an idea of fertility and capability is given. As you ride hour after hour and watch the corn-fields, stretching away as far as the eye can reach and alternating with almost limitless past-tures dotted with cattle, you feel that you are in a region that could feed the world. There was a delightful air of thirt also in most of the homes, and many of the immense farms were inclosed in substantial and picturesque walls of yellow-looking stone.

THE QUARRIES FROM WHICH IT CAME were on every side, near the surface and easily worked, giving the impression that he kindly hand of nature had placed just what was needed in a comparatively treeless region. It does

In the morning we arrived at The Needles, so named from the pinnacled rocks near. Breakfast was much abridged for barter with the uncouth Indians who gathered about the station. Cold as it was, the costume of the squaws was still more distressingly abridged. When the mercury stands at 113°, as it sometimes does in this region, one might well wish to pass in the night. It was, indeed, a picture of vivid contrast to see a fair young Saxon girl bargaining by signs with one of these hideous aborigines of her own sex. Could both be women, "made of the same blood?" The thought of evolution made one weary in this instance; yet in the wares they offered the poor creatures evidently possessed some distinct and unique ideas of beauty.

We were soon on our way across the Colorado River, a swift, muddy and almost uncontrollable stream, which made our beautiful Hudson seem a hundredfold more lovely. As our train crept across the creaking bridge there was one consolation in the thought—that is, if we-kept out of the water—that there was plenty of it beneath us, running to waste also in a region where water will eventually be

The Federal government, as our Confederate friends delighted to call it, but, properly speaking, the United States, or Uncle Sam, has appropriated a hundred and fifty thousand dollars to build for himself a lodge or home in Los Angeles. Uncle Sam's coffers are now exceedingly plethoric, and he can, without the least sympton of embar-rassment, indulge in this little expenditure. But first, a location for the cot-tage must be provided, and the land will have to be purchased on which to erect it. Though our uncle still owns a great deal of land (not having given it quite all away to the railroad companies), he owns none in Los Angeles. Though not vain, Uncle Sam is affected with commendable pride, and will wish to locate his building in an attractive part of the city, and such a location will cost a great deal of money. The building itself will need to be fireproof from bottom to top, for the good uncle spends his money upon no other kind. It will need to be a pretty large building to accommodate all the retainers of the old gentleman in this part of his dominion. There is the postoffice, which of itself, in a large city, such as Los Angeles must soon be, will require a great deal of room; and then there are the United States District and Circuit Courts, their clerks, deputies, marshals and juries; then the land offices, and the revenue officers; the officers and employés of the War Department, including those engaged in river and harbor improvements and fortifications; and the men engaged in the Coast Survey. Then the customs officers, for an important part of the country will need room without stint in which to transact their business in the future. All these, and others, will require quarters in the new building, and it is apparent that the appropriation already made is wholly inadequate. It will do to start with, but it should be increased fivefold at least to meet the requirements of the time and the locality. Less important places than Los Angeles have had even larger appropria-

If some of our citrus friends of the 'Northern Citrus Belt" will kindly inform us whereabouts in San Francisco they market their oranges we will be ever so much obliged to them, for we wish to send for a quantity, in order compare our products with theirs. All we ask is to know the names of the firms in the Bay city that deal in the citrus fruits of the north. We cannot be sure that their products are so much better than those of the south, as claimed, without a comparison, and that can only be make by obtaining samples. Give us the names of th dealers, please, and we will attend to the balance. We might say we have inquired of all the fruit dealers in San Francisco with whom we have any acquaintance, but have not been able as yet to find a single northern-grown orange for sale. We are well aware that there are a great many citrus people in the northern counties; but fruit of least, in the market, though, if we are to accept the statements of northern emigrant agents sent down this way there must be an abundance of such fruit somewhere; and we call upon the papers of Sacramento and Oakland and San José to give us the names of the lealers in the citrus fruits grown in the hyperborean portions of the State. Some statistics of their shipments of such fruits to the East might also be of interest to the public, and we will cheerfully publish the figures as soon as furnished.

The San Francisco Press.

The San Francisco press has a mos astonishing faculty for shutting its eyes to things which deeply concern the welfare of that city, whenever the Central Pacific Railroad Company is a party concerned. Perhaps we should not say much about this when it in ures to our benefit, as it generally does; but correct journalism compe us to speak the truth on all subjects public interest, without regard to the effect it may have on any particular locality. The last instance of this blindness of our hyperborean friends has reference to the incorporation of a railroad company for the San Joaquin Valley, west of the river. Concerning this movement, the San Francisco papers have indulged in no comments except words of praise, although the movement is one directly against the interests of that city, and intended to perpetuate the railroad monopoly under which the people have suffered for these many years. The names of the incor porators, one might suppose, have called forth some inquiry; but not so. The incorporators are, young Crocker, young Hopkins, young tington and two gentlemen of color Brown and Green, and the object of the move is to shut off a competing

The Big Rain.

The tremendous rainfall which began early last evening continued during the night, flooding the streets and the lower part of the city, filling cellars and basements, damaging new build ings, stopping the running of street cars, starting the river on the road towards a boom, and causing uneasiness to the population living in the lower sections and along the river front.

As the snow in the mountains melts, and the waters come down from the highlands, the river, which is not out of its banks at midnight, will continue to rise, and possibly we may yet have a genuine flood; but if the rain does not keep up heavily, this un-desirable visitation may be averted. It is to be hoped it may. There will be, in any event, some damage, discomfort and inconvenience resulting from the storm, but nothing to offset the great good the generous ing will have the effect to inspire with rainfall will bring to the country. All danger of a drouth may now be considered as past, and the prospect is fair for a good crop season in Southern Cal-ifornia. The country will continue to go forward with even more rapid strides than it has been taking in late years. There is no doubt about this.

At the hour of going to presss.m.—the indications are that a flood almost, if not quite, as disastrous as that of February, 1886, is upon us. The Aliso-street bridge is already down, the approaches of the First-street bridge washed away, the old flooded district again inundated, and a big volume of water from up the river yet to hear from. In the local columns will be found a full, yet concise and accurate, presentation of the facts and prospects.

Our Public Highways.

Should the Legislature adjourn without amending the road laws or making some provision for the improvement of our highways, they will have neglected their most important duty. Nothing is of so much moment to a rural popu lation as good roads, and in nothing has the interest of this State been more neglected than in reference to this sub ject. It is not a matter that concerns this county alone; other cou suffered as well as Los Angeles, and the complaint comes up from many quarters. Enough money has been raised for road purposes since we have been a State to have provided a tolerable system of thoroughfares in each county, but the road funds have always been regarded in most of the counties as the special prey of party politicians, and they have been squandered in that way. A little simple legislation would stop this and soon give us good roads. but possibly too many of the legislators have reaped benefits from the road funds to interfere with the present

The Journalistic Judas

No other ass save the Tribune and its alleged "staunch Republican"-one of those political nondescripts who voted for an unclean and unfit Democrat in preference to a clean and fit Republican-could have been so asinine as to perpetrate the idiocy that Gen. He does expect to get his seat, having been cleanly and honestly elected, and he will get it, unless through some infamy such as even the Democratic party would be slow to venture.

As to Gen. Vandever's answer, it speaks for itself. It was drawn with absolute precision by one of the most justly famous law firms on the whole Pacific slope. It will do, despite the venomous gibberings of that journal. The answer is simply a form of law The business in the case will be done in the taking of evidence, and Gen. THE Los Angeles Tribune, which is becoming notorious for its severe economy of truth, has the ineffable gall to assert that it prints more reading matter than THE TIMES. This is untrue. Take, for example, last Sunday's issues of the two papers. THE TIMES contained, by actual measurement in ems (which we have taken the pains to have made), twenty per cent. more read-ing matter than the Tribune of the same day. This simple fact cannot be disproved. Other issues of the two papers will show comparisons to the disadvantage of the Ananias annunciator. Figures—exact measurements—"talk," but prevarication "don't go." The Tribune is a reckless pretender and a daily and shameless assailant of the truth. With its scaly origin and its besmirched personnel it could not be otherwise.

Tie a fresh onion around the neck and bruise it to make its odor thorough and you secure sound sleep from its nightly inhalation.

Mr. Clymer might give, if he only knew it, an additional testimonial to the efficacy of the onion by stating that when bound in the arm-pits and on the soles of the feet of a drunken man it draws the poison out of him and sobers him up quicker than any other known agency. There is virtue in the

The comic opera of Nanon was the piece of the evening, and its sparkling numbers were excellently rendered by the very competent company which Mr. Carleton brings here to support him. The auxiliaries are numerous and well drilled, and the characters throughout are handsomely and effectively costumed. Mr. Carleton is a host in himself, and his manly bearing and fine voice made him an immediate favorite with the house. Miss Fanny Rice in the tile rôle was charming in voice and action.

Considering the drawbacks which attended their first performance here, the company gave an excellent entertainment, and had no reason to complain of their reception by the damp but enthusiastic audience.

The local orchestra was considerably strengthened in number and did good work for the short time they have had for preparation. withstanding these drawbacks, there was

Mr. Hale, chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, replied that a companion bill to the pending measure, which he would call up at an early day, covered the features of floating batteries on rafts for harbor defenses, torpedo boats and torpedo appliances and also of light draught gunboats for use on the Western lakes.

Snow began falling in the middle of November, and there is now more on the snow began rathing in the middle of November, and there is now more on the ground than for ten years. Most of the stage roads are entirely closed up and trains are running at irregular intervals. The supply of fuel is almost exhausted. Three days ago coal was selling at $60 per ton at Fort Benton, and now it can hardly be purchased at any price. The snow is drifted to enormeus depths, and people living at the mountain bases are in imminent danger of meeting a horrible death beneath avalanches or of freezing to death. Should another protracted storm occur it is believed that hundreds will succumb to its terrors. As it is, more people have frozen to death this winter than for twenty-five years. The cold has been intense, varying from 40° below zero at Helena to 60° below at Fort Shaw and Assinabolne. TROUBLE IN ZANZIBAR London, Feb. 14.—Advices from Zanziba state that the Sultan has refused to comply with the demand of the Portuguese governor of Mozambique to surrender the territory claimed by Portuguese but recognized in the Angle Company agreement with the Sultan claimed by Portugal, but recognized in the Anglo-German agreement with the Sultan as belonging to Zanzibar, and has referred the matter to the friendly powers. Portugal has on this account ruptured relations with the Sultan and has hauled down the Portuguese flag from the consulate at Zanzibar. In addition to this a number of Portuguese men-of-war have proceeded to Tungi, the bombardment of which is threatened.

[Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.]

Poor old Payne's voice has not, we are sorry to announce, grown sufficiently strong to enable him to be heard in the halls of the United States Senate, but it appears that with the aid of a speaking-trumpet he manged to make his whisperings penetrate the sympathetic ear of a Washington reporter, but even then it was impossible for him to articulate the sentence, "I demand an investigation!"

San Diego Sewers.

[San Diegan ]

We are in favor of sewers, and heartily in favor of Warring's "separate," automatic, and tank, grease-pan systems above all others. But we see no more sense in sewering the city from Old Town to National City at once than in grading all the streets within that limit. Streets are graded when necessity demands it. Sewers should be laid on the same orinciple.

CHANGES IN STREET-CAR LINES.

The statements made recently that Senator Fair had purchased the City Railroad horse-car line, which runs along Mission street, are positively denied. It is stated, however, tonight, that the Market-street Cable Company of this city has acquired 60 per cent. of the stock of the City Railroad Company. This new branch will be conper cent. of the stock of the City Railroad Company. This new branch will be converted into a cable road, and thus become a part of the Market-street system. It is also stated that the Geary-street Cable Road is about to be transfarred to the Southern Pacific people, the absorption to be followed by the construction of a cable line along Point Lobos avenue from First avenue to the Cliff House.

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times.] An article published in the Herald of February 11th in regard to the body of Jane Morrison (or Prescott) found floating near Deadman's Island developed "some startling facts from the evidence of Dr. Lathrop that death was caused by violence inflicted by parties unknown, but a slight clew has been obtained." Again slight clew has been obtained." Again it says "a Los Angeles dude fell overboard while fishing and the man had to be fished out." What would have been the consequence if the Los Angeles man had not been fished out? He would have been drowned and like the woman his body would have been picked up after nine or ten days knocking around among the piles and rocks and would have had most naturally a bruise or cut or two about its face and body and by holding another San Pedro inquest with the same medical evidence, the verdict would be "fully dealt with by parties unknown."

Now, the woman arrived at San Pedro on the night of January 21st, in an intoxicuted condition; so much so that she was litted from the tram on to the wharf, and could hardly stand on her feet. It being very dark, and being a total stranger in the place, and having three-quarters of a mile to walk on a narrow wharf, with deep water on both sides, it would only be common sense that the chances would be about ten to one that she would fall overboard. If a sober man falls off in broad daylight and is fished out, what is to be expected of an intoxicated woman that falls overboard on a dark night, without any one to fish her out?

They buoyed the boat with tin cans hung on each side, but their guns and munitions in the boat with tin cans hung on each side, put their guns and munitions in the craft, and "pulled from the shore" for the happy hunting grounds. They had paddled but a short distance when the boat collided with an obstreperous wave, and boys, guns and munitions were spilled out, the guns going rapidly to the bottom, while the boat and boys floated. They managed to keep afloat until a boat went to their assistance, and they were brought to the wharf. and they were brought to their assistance, and they were brought to the wharf. PIEDMONT HEIGHTS.

Piedmont is situated at Sierra Madre, is miles northeast of Los Angeles, about 14 miles north of Santa Anita Station, on the L.A. & S. G. V. & R. ; and, as its name indicates, is at the foot of the mountains. It is a gently sloping ridge, facing the south, about 20 rods in width, and has the

MOST EVEN-TEMPERED CLIMATE IN

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA There are 5. to 8. difference here in less than 10 reds. This is not owing to the altitude, but to the conformation of the mountain north of it. Persons with tender throats or weak lungs can here, to a great degree, escape the damp and chilly nights of the valley below and draughts of mountain canons east and west.

These FACTS can be fully demonstrated by anyone spending a night or two here during the cool season.

For Right of Way Across the San Joaquin Ranch-Railroad News from All Around the Southern

As was expected, yesterday afternoon's very heavy rains got in their work on the railroads. Everything was reported running smoothly till well along in the afternoon, and then the trouble began. The first report of a break came from the Southern Pacific, between Alpine and Lancaster, Pacific, between Alpine and Lancaster, where a mile of track went out. A gang of laborers, about seventy-five in number, was sent north on a work-train at 5 o'clock. It is doubtful if they have reached the spot by this time, as the cloudbursts at 8 o'clock probably stood the Soledad canon right on is doubtful if they have reached the spot of this time, as the cloudbursts at 8 o'clock probably stood the Soledad cafion right on end. Ever since last year's flood, which simply gutted the cafion, the Southern Paclific has been doing a great deal of expensive work there; but it is doubtful if human labor can make a road there which shall be proof against the fearful freshets which swing steel bridges around like piles of straw. No. 20 (afternoon passenger from the East) came in over the Southern Paclife about on time, but did not attempt, to go North from here. It was impossible to learn last night the extent of the washouts or the length of time that trains will probably be delayed. A washout was also reported from the Southern Paclife in the Tehachepi Mountains, near Sumner. No freights were sent out East over the road last night.

Up to latest advices the Atlantic and Pacific was all right, but the California Southern was in a heap of trouble. No. 30 (the through express from Kansas City) got through the Cajon all right early in the evening and "tied up" for the night at Colton, not attempting the presumptly dangerous trip to this city. In all probability the fearfully heavy rains of the latter evening played havoc in the Cajon pass, which is a fruitful source of trouble. The Temecula cafion, which is famed for its severe washouts, is understood to be in bashape again. The train from San Diego, due here at 4:15 p.m., had not got in at 9, and was not expected before morning. If the severity of the rain here last evening was general, interruption of travel is probable for a day or two at least.

The depot presented a disconsolate spectacle last night. Over 100 passengers were holding the fort there, rather than face the outer downpour. A good many bought berths on the long string of sleepers and passed the night in comfort. Others wore away the hours as best they could on the seats of the waiting-room.

BIG CONDEMNATION SUIT.

The San Bernardino and Los Angeles Railroad—which is the official title of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé branch, now building from Santa Ana to San Diego—yesterday filed papers with County Clerk Dunsmoor in a condemnation suit for right of way across the Rancho Lomas de Santiago and the San Joaquin ranch. The defendants to the suit are Margaret Irvine, George Irvine, Isaac E. Davis, Edwin B. Mastick and James W. Byrne, who are set forth as the present owners of the San Joaquin ranch. The plaintiff sets forth that it is a corporation duly organized, and is making a railroud from a junction, with the Riverside, Santa Ana and Los Angeles Railroad, near Anaheim, to pursue a course thence southeasterly by way of Anaheim, Orange, Santa Ana, across the San Joaquin ranch to San Juan Capistrano, to Oceanside and to San Diego. The right of way asked is 100 feet wide across the whole ranch, and comprises 109.34 acres. Byron Waters, of San Bernardino, appears as attorney for the road.

As to the purchase of the San Joaquin rancho by the Southern Pacific for $1,400,000, C. F. DENVER AND RIO GRANDE TO CALICO.

Says the San Diego Sun: "It is now stated on good authority that another important railroad move will shortly be made, being the extension of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad from Frisco, in Utah, to the Calico mining district, in San Bernardino ceunty, and thence to all important points in California. The object of this extension, it is said, is to have an outlet for the product of the anthractic coal mines of Crested Butte, Colo. It is believed that coal can be supplied to all of Southern California at very low prices. And another object in seeking the mining districts of Southern California is to take return freights of ores to mix with the ores for the Denver smelters. Definite news as to the intentions of the Denver and Rio Grande, it is believed, will be made public in a few days."
